

Paper Voice integration test

The human retina transforms light into neural signals.

Photoreceptors and glial cells cooperate during development.

Select this sentence to hear a natural British or American voice.